MYSTERY OF A MURDER

The Story Recalled by Campbell's Application for a Pardon.

A DISHONEST CONFESSION

Two of the Accused Were Hanged, One Died a Lunatic and the Fourth Has Always Protested His Innocence.

GREAT FALLS, May 5.—The application for pardon made by Joseph Campbell, now serving a life sentence in the Deer Lodge penitentiary, recalls to old residents of Montana one of the most remarkable and mysterious crimes ever committed within its borders. During the winter of 1878-9 a soldier named Farrell was murdered in Benton, and Koble, Marsh, Fernster and Campbell, also soldiers, were arrested on suspicion. The men were given a preliminary hearing before Judge Donnelly, then probate judge, and now practing law at Benton, and were bound over.

In April, 1879, the cases were to be tried before Judge Wade. Just before the cases were called, Fernster and Campbell turned state's evidence and were permitted to plead guilty to murder in the second degree. The lawyers retained to defend the four men withdrew from the case and Colonel Donnelly was appointed by the court to defend Kobie and Marsh. The story told by Fernster and Campbell was that Farrell had told Colonel Moale, their post commander, that the four soldiers were going to desert and take horses and guns across the boundary line into Canadian territory; that the men had gotten into a quarrel with Farrell at a dance at the house of Kate Armstrong, had lured him out near a haystack and beaten him over the head with a revolver, cut his throat with a razor and shoved the body into an air hole in the ice on the Missouri

The story of Fernster and Campbell was generally believed, and Colonel Moale ordered the troops out, cut a channel across the river through the ice and stationed the men along the channel with hooks to catch the body as it floated down the river. Then cannon were placed above the channel and for 48 hours firing was continued in vain efforts to raise the body. About this time Tom Shares appeared on the scene and testified to having seen the body of a soldier floating in an open stretch of the river at the mouth of the Marias, a few miles below Benton. This testimony corroborated the confession of the two men, and all further efforts to secure Farrell's body was abandoned. Kobie and Marsh were tried before Judge Wade, Colonel Johnson, now of Helena, prosecuting, and both men were found guilty of murder and executed in a little enclos ure made for the occasion behind the old log jail, by John J. Healy, then sheriff of Choteau county. Both men protested in-nocence to the last and were swung off into eternity, declaring ignorance as to the cause of Farrell's disappearance. Fernster and Campbell, both mere boys, were sent to the penitentiary for life.

A few weeks after the men were hanged the remains of Farrell were found a few miles southwest of Benton in a little coulee off of the Highwood road. An autopsy revealed the fact that there was no inno cut on the throat, but there was a bullet wound completely through the body from side to side, just above the heart. The examination completely refuted the confession of the men as to the manner in which the crime was committed, and the disappearance of Tom Jones, a negro teamster, a short time afterwards led to the conclusion that Farrell had been shot in the house of Lizzie Clark, the negro's mistress, and the body hauled by the teamster to the place where it was accidentally discovered. Thus the matter is wrapped in mystery and whether Koble and Marsh were innocent victims of a cowardly confession made by frightened youths will ever remain a secret until the truth is told by Joseph Campbell, who now seeks freedom after spending 15 long years behind the cold walls of a state's prison. Of the four principals in the tragic drama, Campbell alone survives. Koble and Marsh paid the death penalty and soon after being taken to prison, Fernster became violently insane and died at the Warm Springs asylum. On Wednes-day next the board of pardons will consider whether or not Joe Campbell is entitled to liberty.

GREAT FALLS GOSSIP.

GREAT FALLS, May 5.-There is absolutely no truth in the rumor that efforts are being made to organize a Coxey brigade. Such a project has probably never entered the brain of even "itinerants" at this point. The people of Great Falls are prosperous, and contented, and few men look for work here that are unable to find something to do. The supply of labor is equal to the demand, of course, but there is no horde of idle men begging for work or applying for charity on the streets. There will be no Coxey army organized at Great Falls.

The ladies of the Episcopal guild entertained their friends with refreshments at the Glass block storeroom this afternoon and evening.

The Neihart train arrived this evening with a long list of passengers and several cars of ore. The trainmen were given an ovation by the miners of that camp Friday evening.

Judge Race's office was crowded with people to-night, called there to discuss school questions and the proposed erection of the new school building.

The Populist club met last evening at the court house and the attendance was quite large. Brief speeches were made on matters of a political nature and considerable interest was manifested. The meeting adjourned until Friday evening.

when a large public meeting will be held. The Billings stage brought in 68 sacks of delayed newspaper mail last evening and the cierks at the postoffice worked all night to distribute the ancient history of the world's events as chronicled in the newspapers.

Charged With Killing Cattle.

GREAT FALLS, May 5 .- Rufus Vance and Charles Holmes are under arrest at Havre charged with killing range cattle and selling the meat. Vance and Holmer were formerly in the regular army and stationed at Fort Assinaboine, but since their discharge both men have been living on a ranch a few miles east of Havre. The meat from one animal killed was found, it is said, concealed under the

SHIPS AND GUNS GALORE. Uncle Sam's Plans for the Protection o the Seals

SEATTLE, May 5 .- The flagship Mobican, Commander Clark commanding the fleet: the Yorktown, Commander Folger; the Bennington, Commander Thomas; the Concord, Commander Goodrich; the Marion, Commander Mullen; the Ranger, Commadder Longnecker; the Alert, Commander Morgan; the Adams, Commander Brice; the Petrel, Lieutenant Commander Emery; the Albatross, Lieutenant Commander Drake, and the revenue cutters Rush, Corwin and Bear, will comprise not only the largest but the most efficien fleet that has ever been sent to patrol Bering sea. This fleet consists of five ships of the old and four of the new navy, three revenue cutters and the fish commission vessel, Albatross.

The old ships are not fast, but their secondary battery of revolving cannon will be able to reach the trespassing sealers if they have any advantage of speed over the war vessels. These sealers will be glad to heave to and await the search as soon as they hear the Hotchkiss shells falling about them. The new ships have the great advantage of speed over any sealers that will be likely to venture within the sea. Their coal capacity is se large that they will be able to keep to the sea for weeks at a time, and they will be so placed that the chances are entirely against the sealers reaching Bering sea. The system of patrolling the sea will be effective, the entire crew being blocked out, each ship being allotted to a certain latitude and longitude. As the seals procced north, the ships will follow, guarding the various passages through which the seals are known to pass upon entering Bering sea.

At the 'Frisco Track.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—The principal events of the Bay District track to-day were the Flash stakes and the Gentle men's race. The Flash stakes for 2-year olds, five furlongs, brought out 13 good 2-year-olds. Tiger and the Miss Clay filly were withdrawn. The horses got off on the third breakaway, with Bellicose in the lead, Lady Jane second, and Rey Alfonso third. At the first quarter Rey Alfonso led by half a length, Bellicose second by a length, Monterey third. On the stretch Bellicose led by half a length. Rey Alfonso second, Monterey third. Bellicose came away from his field and won as he pleased by three lengths without turning a hair. Monterey was second and Rey Alfonso third; time, 1:02. Five and one-half furlongs-Fly won, Chevalier second, Banjo third; time, 1:081/2. About three-quarters of a mile, Tillie S. won. Boston Boy second, Jennie Dean third: time, 1:14. Handicap, mile and a sixteenth; Zobair won, Hotspur second, Sir Reel, third; time, 1:49½. Gentlemen riders, one mile. This race created a great deal of amusement. After the breaka-way, "Lord Talbot Clifton" returned to the judges' stand and talked insultingly to President Williams and was promptly ruled off for life. Dr. Ross was scratched and all bets declared off. Gilead won, Gladiator second, Nicodemus third; time.

BURGLARS MUCH DISAPPOINTED The Silverware Was Plated and Was Left

With an Indignant Note. A story is going the rounds in Philadelphia, says the Record, in which a facetious burglar figures, to the disconfiture and yet relief of a gentleman who lives in the vicinity of Eighteenth and Wallace streets. The residence was closed during Easter, the entire family having gone to Atlantic City. When they returned the louse was discovered to have been broken into, and everything was turned topsy-turvy. The most careful search, however, failed to disclose where anything had been stolen, and the supposition was that the thieves had been frightened off while at their work. But the true facts developed when a carefully worded and well written note was found upon the dining-room table. In this epistle the facetious burglar had taken the pains to assure the owner of the property that nothing had been taken away. "We have tested your silverware," the note explained,"and find it to be plated. Your curtains are of an inferior quality, and the jewelry, such as your wife and daughters possess, is scarce ly worth carrying off. We had expected better things of you." Although greatly relieved, the gentleman of the house could not conceal his chagrin, and now that the story was leaked out, he doesn't like it a
